We cringe when it happens. When an individual browses our site with Internet Explorer 6 . It's becoming less and less common as time progresses but unfortunately we have noticed ,thanks to analytics, that there are still a few lost browsers out there. We can't stress enough about how these individuals are not getting the whole web experience. Not only are they not seeing all that the web has to offer aesthetically, but also in terms of security. Internet Explorer 6 is old technology. It's been around 10 years now since it was initially launched and roughly 2% of the US still uses it.

So, to avoid "beating a dead horse" we kindly ask all of you to make sure you are using the most current version of your choice browser. Join The Movement
